Ethical Veganism in RE - Calling all RE teachers and RE leads!
Investigating the Use of Ethical Veganism Resources in Religious Education

- Are you interested in trying out new and innovative resources to enhance your classroom instruction?
- We are currently looking for participants to be involved in a trial and impact study of the Ethical Veganism in RE resources (as created by RE Today with the support of Veganism in Education (VinE) and the Animal Interfaith Alliance) which includes a variety of engaging activities and lesson ideas to help pupils learn about the vegan worldview and philosophical conviction.
- The purpose of this study is to explore how teachers use these resources to teach about ethical veganism, and how pupils respond to this topic in a religious education setting. Your participation will involve you and your students completing an online survey and participating in a group interview.
- The survey will take approximately 15-20 minutes to complete, and the interview will take approximately 30-45 minutes.
- Your participation is voluntary, and all information collected will be kept confidential.
- If you are interested in participating please complete this short form, or should you have any questions about the study contact Heather Marshall at Marshallh@edgehill.ac.uk.
- Thank you for considering this opportunity.
